A New Year Message of Peace

Radio, as a great unifying force in the national life of Canada, was again demonstrated on the second day of this new year when speeches by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Sir Robert Borden, and General Jan Christian Smuts, former Prime Minister of South Africa, were broadcast over the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific, enabling tens of thousands of Canadians to clearly hear every word spoken.

The importance from a national standpoint of Canadians being able to listen to such speeches as those given by Premier Ramsay MacDonald, and General Smuts, can hardly be over-estimated. They not only serve to link Canada more closely to other self-governing units of the great British Commonwealth of Nations, but they likewise help our people to learn of Canada itself as it is seen and appreciated by world statesmen.

Many of the problems confronting South Africa in these early years of its autonomy as a self-governing Dominion, are similar to those which confronted young Canada and the Fathers of Confederation fifty and sixty years ago. In South Africa, as in Canada, they have problems relating to the racial origin of the two major groups in the Commonwealth and inherent in which is the problem of language. In addition, South Africa has the problem of the native black races which, fortunately, we are free of in this Dominion.

In his short address, Sir Robert Borden referred to the fact that Canada and South Africa, at the Peace Conference, appeared to have a clearer perception of the future of the Empire than did others of the Dominions. Canada and South Africa found themselves entirely in accord. Sir Robert Borden did not labor the point, nor did he take time to explain just why this should be so. But is not the reason quite self-evident? Here in Canada, at times, when from one cause or another, racial and language difficulties crop up, and dishonorable use is made of these differences and difficulties to inflame the passions and prejudices of people, the question is frequently asked in the English-speaking Provinces: Why should Canada be obliged to recognize the French language, and continue certain old French laws, when Australia is not so bound?

The answer is not far to seek. Canada, like South Africa, is a conquered country. It was originally a French possession, but was wrested by force of British arms from France, just as the Transvaal and the Orange Free State were wrested from the Boers. Australia, on the other hand, was colonized by English-speaking people. There was no conquest, except that over the native races. When France ceded Canada to Britain, and when the Boers laid down their arms in South Africa, treaties were negotiated between Britain on the one hand, and France and the old Boer republics on the other. In those treaties Britain solemnly pledged her national word and honor to the observance of certain things, and among these was recognition of certain racial, religious and language rights and privileges.

Accorded full Dominion status, the duty and responsibility of maintaining and observing both the letter and the spirit of these treaty obligations devolves upon Canada and South Africa. The national word and honor of these two Dominions is pledged just as solemnly as is that of Great Britain itself. And if Great Britain, Canada, South Africa, and the whole Empire was prepared to go to war and make all the sacrifices entailed in the great world struggle with Germany in order to keep Britain's pledged word guaranteeing the neutrality and independence of Belgium, how much more should all portions of the Empire loyally, faithfully, generously, fulfill those obligations which alone made Confederation possible in Canada, and has made South Africa a loyal unit in the Empire?

In his speech, General Smuts dwelt at length upon Canada's leadership in the Empire, and the great contributions which this Dominion has made in the cause of national unity, Empire unity and solidarity, and world understanding. It was Canada's example which made union in South Africa possible. It was the example of the British Empire which made the League of Nations possible,—the League being, as General Smuts pointed out, but the exemplification and extension of the same principles upon which the British Empire is founded and continues to exist and prosper.

Speaking of Canada, General Smuts used words which every Canadian should take to heart, and which, in concluding this article, we quote: "You have taken the lead in many respects. You took the lead in racial settlement. The Prime Minister has referred to the coincidence with our situation in South Africa. Our racial circumstances resemble your own. If we have reached a happy solution of our great racial question in South Africa, it is largely due to the precedent you have set. You found the first solution of the racial question and we have followed you, and the precedent you have set and which we are following. I hope will be followed more and more by other nations of the world, so that racial questions will cease to trouble the peace of the world and, instead of being a source of division, will become the bond of union between the nations of the earth."

Novel Wall Decoration

In a barber's shop in Islington, the walls and ceilings are completely covered with thousands of minute pieces of plate-glass mirror which the proprietor, Mr. Festa, has cut and painted in all colours of the rainbow and in all shapes from stars to roses. The largest piece of glass is less than an inch square, and the total number is about a quarter of a million.

Alberta Oil

More than 200 wells have been drilled or are drilling in Alberta, and plans are under way for starting at least 50 more in the spring. Turner Valley accounts for 37 actual producers with an output of 100,000 barrels of crude naphtha per month, and 200,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily.

Seventy-one towns in Germany are named Neustadt.

The bagpipe was used by ancient musicians in Egypt and Greece.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has been recommended for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

General Jan Christian Smuts, P.C., C.H., former Premier of the Union of South Africa, probably the most picturesque figure of the great war and the great peace that followed it, photographed in the Windsor Station of the Canadian Pacific Railway on New Year's Day. This was the first time in his long career that he had crossed the Atlantic to visit this continent and to fulfill his intention of "seeing something of Canada and Canadians at home, and to get a living impression of the most important of the young British Dominions." While in Montreal he was admitted to an LL.D. Degree by the University of McGill.

Book Brings Good Price

First Edition Of Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" Worth Large Sum

To buy a book for $1 and two days later receive an offer of $1,200 for it was the good fortune of Mrs. Dora Hood, of Toronto.

Recently Mrs. Hood purchased a group of old books and discovered among them a first edition of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter," printed at Boston in 1850. The book is quoted in booksellers' catalogues at prices ranging from $1,000 to $1,500.

Besides "The Scarlet Letter," Mrs. Hood found a first edition of "Marble Faun" by the same author, printed in 1860, and valued at $100.

Ramifications Of War

Future Wars Will Be Carried On Against Civilians As Well As the Soldier At the Front

In modern war it is not armies that are mobilized, but nations, and it is as important in a military sense to starve or bombard the women who are making shells in the factory as to kill the soldiers who are firing the shells. It is as important to cut off the food supplies from the people who make the munitions as it is to cut off the munitions supplies from the firing line. War in the future will not be, and cannot be, more humane than in the past; it must be immeasurably more humane, for not only has the "civilian" ceased to exist in the war sense, but the modern weapons of war, the airplane and the submarine, are especially adapted to carry destruction beyond the theatre of war into the homes of the people.—A. G. Gardiner in the London Star.

Settling the West

558 Families Settled Permanently On Canadian Farms By Colonization Association

A total of 558 families were settled permanently on Canadian farms in the first eleven months of 1929 by the Canada Colonization Association, it was stated at Saskatoon the other day. The total does not include those families placed as workers for other farmers, and which, if added, would raise the total to 1,210 families. The area covered by the permanent placements this year is 123,441 acres.

WAS ALWAYS AILING NEVER FELT WELL

Health Restored Through the Use Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"I am one of the many who have found new health through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. Everett Dowe, South Nelson, N.B. "For some years I never felt well, and at times was so weak that I would be confined to bed. At the very best I was in an ailing condition, and found it difficult at all times to do my housework. I was subject to headaches, poor appetite, breathless at the least exertion, and very pale. Before Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me I had tried several medicines, but without any good results. I had become completely discouraged and felt that I would always be an invalid. A friend strongly urged me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and finally I consented to do so, but without much hope that they would help, where other medicines had failed. But in this, to my joy, I was mistaken. I had not been taking the pills very long when I knew they were helping me. As I continued their use I found my appetite improving, I slept better at night, and my strength was gradually returning. I continued taking the pills for several months, when I again found myself a well woman, and I believe that had it not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I would today be a helpless invalid. The pills have since been taken by others in our family, with the same beneficial results. I strongly urge every weak woman to try this grand health-building medicine."

If you will send your name and address to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., a little book, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed you postpaid.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Would Take Some Fixing

The following letter was received at the office of a railway mail service company: "Dear Sirs:—The evening papers have not been coming regularly. Today I got yesterday's paper, and when I get yesterday's paper today, the next day I get the paper of the day before the day of the paper I got the day before. Last year I received the paper of the day before and never once was there a miscue. Please fix it."

Annual Mineral Production

Twenty years ago the annual mineral production of Canada was valued at $85,000,000, now it is over $270,000,000.

Visitors to the English Parliament average 5,000 on ordinary days, and more than 20,000 every Saturday.

The United States ranks first among the countries exporting rayon hosiery to Egypt.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM CONSTIPATION?

Countless remedies are advertised for constipation. Many relieve for the moment but they are habit forming and must be continued. Others contain calomel and dangerous mineral drugs, which remain in the system, settle in the joints and cause aches and pains. Some are harsh purgatives which cramp and gripe and leave a depressed after effect. Avoid lubricating oils which only grease the intestines and encourage nature's machinery to become lazy. A purely vegetable laxative such as Carter's Little Liver Pills, gently touches the liver, bile starts to flow, the bowels move gently, the intestines are thoroughly cleansed and constipation poisons pass away. The stomach, liver and bowels are now active and the system enjoys a real tonic effect. All druggists 25c and 75c red pkgs.

Safeguarding Life At Sea

Parliament Will Likely Deal With Problem At Next Session

Parliament at the forthcoming session will probably be asked to enact legislation putting into effect some of the provisions of the convention which resulted from the "safety of life at sea conference." This was held last year and was attended by Alex. Johnson, deputy minister of marine. While the general provisions of the convention do not become effective until 1931, a number of them are considered of sufficient urgency to warrant their being adopted by the signatory governments at the earliest. This has particular bearing on radio apparatus. The convention agreed that henceforth ocean-going ships generally must carry wireless. It will be compulsory for passenger vessels and also for freighters of 1,600 tons and over.

Each administration has discretion to exempt from this provision specified voyages where the administration is satisfied that these do not involve any hazard.

According to international agreement, a passenger ship is one which carries 12 passengers and over; but it is realized that there are circumstances under which small vessels coming within that classification operate without the remotest risk. Such ships would be exempt from the proposed legislation.

Hitherto one of the difficulties has been the equipping of freighters with radio apparatus. The cost of maintenance, involving, as it does, the payment of no fewer than three operators, is at times prohibitive. In order to meet this problem, however, the conference has devised an automatic system which reduces the number of freighter radio men to one. This invention makes it possible for a ship to receive an "S.O.S." in the form of a warning signal. The stricken vessel sends out its message in four second dashes, and this reaches the one-man radio equipped freighter by the ringing of a bell both in the signal-house and in the chartroom. Thus, if the operator is off duty, the officer on watch receives the warning signal, and immediately is able to communicate that fact to the operator who can thus proceed to his post and take the message.

The conference developed other requirements for safeguarding life at sea, but it is believed that only those dealing with radio will be taken up in the Canadian parliament this next session.

Madrid's Great Worry

Abandoned Donkeys Are Proving Problem For Spanish City

New York has the problem of disposing of abandoned automobiles, but in Madrid it's abandoned donkeys. Every once in a while a little donkey is found on the streets, either lost, or abandoned by an owner who could no longer afford to feed the animal.

The difference between an abandoned automobile and an abandoned donkey is that the automobile occupies space, but eats nothing, while the donkey does both. The City of Madrid spends quite a bit of money every time a donkey is found on its hands, and is therefore anxious to get rid of him as soon as possible. Auction sales are announced, but frequently no buyers are immediately found.

Miller's Worm Powders attack worms in the stomach and intestines at once, and no worm can come in contact with them and live. They also correct the unhealthy conditions in the digestive organs that invite and encourage worms, setting up reactions that are most beneficial to the growth of the child. They have attested their power in hundreds of cases and at all times are thoroughly trustworthy.

Eskimos and Radio

Natives Of Northland Believe the Music and Voices Come From Spirit World

Eskimos of Arctic Canada will tolerate the phonograph, but not the radio, according to men who recently returned to Europe after a visit in the northern land. The traders brought back nearly all the radio sets they took with them last summer for barter. The Eskimo believe the music and voices come from spirits which haunt the vast snowy wastes with which they are surrounded, and regard the instruments with dread. Demonstrations that they can control results by changing records on phonographs, have proved to them that phonographs are not supernatural.

No child should be allowed to suffer an hour from worms when prompt relief can be got in a simple but strong remedy—Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

When Babies CRY

Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

Cheap Phonograph Records

New Chemical Composition Will Make It Possible To Produce Records To Sell At 15 Cents

Phonograph records selling at 15 cents each and retailed like magazines at newspaper stands throughout the United States, will go on the market soon, as the result of the discovery of a new chemical composition known as durium, according to an announcement made by Dr. Hal T. Beans, professor of chemistry at Columbia University.

A huge corporation, known as the Durium Products Corporation, already has been formed for the manufacture of records, the announcement said.

Discovery of the new composition was made after three years of experiment, according to Dr. Beans. Durium is liquid in its original form, he said, and is transformed by subjection to heat into an insoluble, infusible solid, which combines hardness and flexibility to a remarkable degree.

Records made from durium are printed on an ordinary printing press. A disc of fibre paper is covered with the substance, which is a clear golden color, resembling amber.

A Consoling Thought

It was necessary for taxation purposes to decide which side of the Canadian and United States border a farm, which an old lady had just purchased, actually lay. Surveyors finally announced that the farm was just on the American side of the border. The old lady smiled with relief. "I'm so glad to know that," she said. "I've heard that winters in Canada are terribly severe."

To go from Boston to New York in 1775 by stage required a week; in 1835, by boat and rail, fifteen hours; in 1920, by auto, nine hours, and in 1928, by air, two and one-half hours.

World's Richest Country

In Wealth Per Capita Switzerland Is In the Lead

The commonly accepted impression that the United States leads the world in per capita wealth is corrected by a table issued by a Wall Street house. The United States stands in third place. Switzerland leads with a wealth per capita of $3,126; New Zealand follows with $3,029. The United States is third with $2,908. Other important countries are not far behind. Canada following the United States with $2,779; Australia, $2,710, and Great Britain, $2,677. At the tail of the procession is Russia, whose wealth is estimated at but $215 to the head of population. Wealth is saved capital and statistics show that a people with little wealth may still be prosperous, even though living costs are relatively high.

Don't Submit To Asthma. If you suffer without hope of breaking the chains which bind you do not put off another day the purchase of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Remedy. A trial will drive away all doubt as to its efficiency. The sure relief that comes will convince you more than anything that can be written. When help is so sure, why suffer? This matchless remedy is sold by dealers everywhere.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, marries Molly Winton, not knowing he is loved by Grace Farrell, a loyal little cigarette girl. After Al wins fame as a composer of popular songs, Molly elopes with John Perry, taking her baby, Junior, as she sails for France. Al, broken by the loss, becomes a derelict, but is saved by Grace Farrell, and recovers to appear in a Broadway revue. Molly obtains a Paris divorce, but Perry deserts her. Grace and Al plan marriage. One night as they reach the theatre where Al is appearing, a phone call comes from Molly, who has just returned to America, telling Al to rush to the hospital. Molly meets him.

CHAPTER XXX.

"It's Junior," she said, and led him toward the little white room.

Al took one look at Molly's face of anguish and tip-toed toward the bed. Junior seemed to sense his father's presence, for he opened his eyes and gave a wan smile. As Al leaned over to kiss the tiny hands and feverish brow he saw how shrunken the little figure was that had once been so vital with health. He was dazed by the sight, for it was apparent that the hand of death was on Junior. But Al wouldn't let himself believe that.

He turned to Molly. "What—?" But Molly wouldn't explain, nor could she meet Al's steady gaze, which grew more accusing every moment. She quickly walked into the hallway and Al followed.

"What have you done to him?" he demanded, eyes blazing with rage. "You didn't take care of him, you let him get sick!"

Suddenly Al's rage passed—this was no time for accusations. He heard Junior's voice calling weakly. He ran back, dropping on his knees beside the bed. Then Junior, in a voice that was like a faint, poignant memory, said:

"Daddy—I missed you—awful much."

Al choked back the tears. "And Daddy missed you, too, Junior—awful much. But now you've come back—now you're going to get well soon and—we'll never be separated again."

Junior tried to smile. That was nice, he thought, but somehow his daddy's voice sounded faraway. Really, Al's face was very near to him and he was trying desperately to pull Junior back to life by his own will power. For a moment he seemed partly successful, for Junior roused himself.

"Don't look so sad, Daddy," he whispered. "Make me laugh the way you used to."

Al tried to laugh, but there was hysteria in his laughter that Junior didn't notice. To the little boy this was his daddy just as in the days of old, laughing, making funny faces, reaching out loving hands to him. But in the midst of the tragic humor Junior grew drowsy and his mind went back to another happy circumstance of the old days.

"Daddy—sing me to sleep—please. That song—you used to sing."

Only by placing his ear close to Junior's mouth did Al catch that murmured request. It seemed to him that his boy was drifting from him already. Then Junior gave another smile and Al's hope revived.

"I'll sing it, Junior. You mean 'Little Feller,' the song I wrote just for you."

Softly the words came, but with a penetrating, lifting quality. Again Al was striving against the terrible odds to bring his beloved child back from the Valley of Shadows. Molly, standing cross the room, stood with her hand over her mouth, in the grip of dreadful silence, listening to the familiar words, watching Al's body swaying gently to the rhythm.

As Al sang, Junior's eyelids drooped, then closed entirely. The eerie little smile stayed on his lips, retreated, came back, and—passed away. Was he asleep? Al thought so. He stopped singing, but remained kneeling, his eyes fixed on Junior's face.

He didn't see the doctor return, bringing in a nurse. He didn't see them lean over Junior. . . . Then Al realized that he was standing up, facing the doctor. From a long distance came the words:

"Your boy is dead."

But Al would not have it. He brushed by the doctor, gathered Junior in his arms, and held him close.

"Don't go away, Junior! Stay with Daddy! I'll make you laugh, baby, I'll sing for you all day, I'll do anything—"

Tenderly they took Junior from Al's arms. . . . Now Junior was nowhere in sight. Al saw the white-robed figures of the nurses and the doctors pass and repass, like people in a dream, whose faces can't be distinguished. He heard an agonized voice—"Al!"—and knew Molly was calling him. But he didn't answer. . . . Now he was stumbling down the hallway, alone.

He was going somewhere—but where? Oh, yes, the theatre—it was time for him to go on. . . . He was walking down the outside hospital steps, swaying and reaching toward the railing for support. Then he was in his car, driving toward his destination. He never knew how he reached the theatre, but the stage-doorkeeper saw the little sport car turn the corner of the alley and some to a stop. Grace saw it too, and ran forward with a little cry. One glance at Al's white face and she knew something terrible had happened.

"Junior's dead."

Al stood, gripping the door of the car, afraid to let go. He saw Grace's eyes fill with tears. Then, through the stage doorway, came the sound of music—racing, gay, lively. It was the number just before Al's first appearance and he darted past Grace toward his dressing room. No matter what happens the actor must appear and entertain his audience! It's the unbreakable stage tradition! Grace followed Al toward his dressing room, to see that he peached it safely, but she did not enter. She realized he wanted to be alone with his grief and that he must concentrate and hurry with the utmost intensity to be ready for his call. But the look she had seen in his eyes made her fearfully afraid to have him try his songs tonight. He simply wasn't up to the ordeal of facing that crowd out in front and making them laugh. If he collapsed it might throw him back into the attitude of despair from which she had rescued him. Like a little sentinel Grace paced up and down before his dressing room door, her deep sympathy with Al in this tragic hour mingling with her fear for him.

Inside, Al sat before his dressing table making up with feverish rapidity. His watch was before him—he had four minutes before his call. A large framed photograph of Junior stood at one side of the dressing table, but he did not let himself look at that. Every moment must be given to applying the black make-up. Behind that make-up he would feel more the performer, ready to go ahead at any cost. Now the burnt cork was applied and streaks of red outlined and accentuated his lips; he slipped into his clothes and came from the room a moment after the call-boy's knock.

Grace faced him. "Al, you shouldn't try to go on tonight." "I'll have to, Grace. The show's waiting—they expect me. I must." He spoke desperately, trying to give himself strength and courage. Then he moved away, taking his usual place in the wings, waiting for his cue. He saw the stage manager nearby, watching the show; a chorus of Tiller girls drifted by him, giggling and happy over the applause their precision dancing had received; the lights went off and on as an eccentric dancer leaped on the stage. Al clasped his hands tightly to still their trembling—in a moment he would be out there himself. Grace was keeping out of his sight, but hovering near and watching him anxiously. She knew she couldn't stop him now, once his mind was fixed on going on.

Again the momentary darkness after the eccentric dancer finished his act, then a throb of apprehension on Al's part as he heard the orchestra go into his music. Heavens, they were playing "Little Feller!" He had forgotten that the song had been revived for his opening number. He put out his hand futilely, as if to stop them. Didn't they know he couldn't sing that song to the crowd?

Has Wild Animal Park

J. A. M. Patrick, Of Yorkton, Meets With Success In Raising English Fallow Deer

It is about 15 years ago that J. A. M. Patrick, K.C., well-known lawyer in Yorkton, Sask., began his wild animal park by raising some geese one and a half miles west of this city. After a few months Mr. Patrick fenced in 47 acres of land and began bringing in some animals such as deer and elk, and commenced raising these. For a long time Mr. Patrick encountered many difficulties, and the task of raising the animals seemed well night impossible, but he was persistent, and as time went by the flock of geese and ducks, and herds of elk and deer, began to increase.

During the past year Mr. Patrick raised 28 wild Canada geese and gave a considerable quantity of eggs away. During the past month 20 of the young wild geese have been sent by the owner to various parts of Canada. On Christmas Day, the wild animal park at Moose Jaw received three beautiful English fallow deer as a gift from Mr. Patrick. The deer consist of a mother and a young fawn, and a three-year-old buck.

Mr. Patrick is the only breeder of English fallow deer in Canada. He has a herd of 17 on his farm, seven of which are pure white, the largest herd of pure white deer throughout the Dominion. Besides having two other varieties of deer on his farm, Mr. Patrick has six elk and a large flock of wild ducks and wild geese. This was the first private park in Canada, and for many years was the only park in the three western provinces.

For many years Mr. Patrick has always co-operated with other centres in Canada who are anxious to have a wild animal park by donating many animals to these centres. He is also interested in the banding of birds, and is connected with the biological survey of the United States and Canada in this work. Last season Mr. Patrick banded 175 birds, the majority of which were night herons and cormorants.

Placing the Blame

Little Jimmy, against his father's warning, started to climb up on a table.

"Don't climb up there," his father said. "If you do, you'll fall, sure."

But Jimmy climbed up, and then down he fell.

As his father lifted him to his feet and wiped the tears from his eyes Jimmy bawled:

"It's all your fault—boo,boo—for not catching me. Why didn't you catch me? You knew I was going to fall—you said so."

Predicts Lower Levels For Lakes

Great lake levels will be considerably lower during 1930, according to A. J. Lothian, who is a student of lake levels. Taking a report of the Chronological Bureau, at Washington, in conjunction with his own records, he predicts the lake levels will be noticeably lower than at the record peak of 1929.

New Air Mail Rates

Schedule To Cover Service To Mackenzie River District

With the inauguration of regular air mail services to the Mackenzie River District, the deputy postmaster-general, at Ottawa, has announced, through the weekly bulletin, a new schedule of rates.

In addition to the contract air mail service in operation to the district, the Commercial Airways, Limited, contractors, have been granted permission to convey by air on other than mail days, such mail as is offered by the public for conveyance by this service, provided the senders assume all risk.

The requirements for the air mail are:

1. "By air mail" to be prominently written on the address side.

A Kitchener Story

How Great Man Lost Possession Of Rare Piece Of China

Stories about Lord Kitchener are always cropping up. Here is one which seems to be new. The civic dignitaries of a certain town wanted to make him a presentation, and decided the best thing they could give him would be a piece of china. Being aware of Kitchener's expert knowledge of china, the donors were anxious to make sure that the proposed piece was likely to meet with his approval, so they put it on the table at a lunch he attended. It was a fine and rare piece, and as soon as the great man sat down he looked at it, and at once decided he must secure it for his own collection, and secure it cheap. So he observed in his gruffest voice that the piece was not genuine. . . . at which the dignitaries, very much dejected, took it back to the dealers. The story is told by Mr. Crompton Mackenzie in "Gallipoli Memories."

The Oil For the Athlete.—In rubbing down, the athlete will find Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil an excellent article. It renders the muscles and sinews pliable, takes the soreness out of them and strengthens them for strains that may be put upon them. It stands pre-eminent for this purpose, and athletes who for years, have been using it can testify to its value as a lubricant.

Determines Shape Of Earth

Findings Of Canadian Scientist Most Accurate To Date

The earth is not round after all. It is flattened at the poles and has quite a pronounced heaviness about the middle.

A. H. Miller, a Canadian scientist attached to the Dominion observatory at Ottawa, has completed measurements this year which show the diameter through the poles is 25 miles less than through the equator. The difficult feat of determining the globe's true shape was accomplished with a pendulum swinging in a vacuum. It was carried to Berlin, Greenwich, Washington and back to Ottawa.

At each point the speed of the swing varied with the differing pulls of gravity. From these observations the delicate calculations were made. Mr. Miller's findings are considered by scientists as the most accurate to date.

Technically mother earth is not a sphere but an ellipsoid.

The "Dotted Swiss" Girl

Might Look Funny Now But Were Sweet Once

Can it be true? They say that long skirts, dotted Swiss muslins, wide-brimmed hats, sashes, parasols and all the other fixings are coming back. Well, while we have no fault to find with the girl of today, mind you, we would like to see once more those befurrowed creatures of the past.

We might not care to see them for long. One never knows how one may have changed. And memories of the long ago are never to be accepted at their full face value. There is a certain misty quality about them that in the star dust may hide as well as illuminate. But even so we would like to risk a look.

They might be funny, but they sure were sweet.

HOW TO RELIEVE CHILDREN'S COLDS

Avoid Serious Results By Using Baby's Own Tablets

When a child shows the first symptoms of a cold, such as sneezing, redness of the eyes, clogged or running nose, prompt measures for relief may avert serious results. Mothers should always have on hand some simple safe and effective remedy for immediate use.

Baby's Own Tablets act quickly, contain no opiates or narcotics, are tasteless and harmless. Concerning them Mrs. Jos. Cadieux, Holyoke, Mass., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children and find them a very satisfactory medicine. When my little boy had a cold I gave him up the Tablets at night and he was well the next day. I gave them to the children for constipation and they are always benefited. I think Baby's Own Tablets are much easier to give a child than liquid medicine. I strongly recommend all mothers who have young children to keep a box of the Tablets in the house."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada's Radio Stations

Many Of Eighty-One On List Are Privately Owned

The latest census of Canadian broadcasting stations shows 81 on the list, of which number 18 are phantom stations. There have been few changes in the radio roster, the chief ones being the dropping of CNRQ, at Quebec, and the additions of CNRD at Red Deer, Alberta, and CNRX at Toronto.

Canadian stations are owned principally by private companies. Thirteen belong to newspapers, six to grain brokers, three to religious organizations, thirteen to the Canadian National Railways, eight to radio societies and universities, fifteen to radio manufacturers and retailers, and the remainder to private individuals and diverse manufacturing companies.

The Conquering New Spirit

New Ideals Stronger Than the Old Spirit Of Hate and Suspicion

The world is not losing its faith in ideals. It does not live by material things alone. It longs for palpable proof of the vitality of the higher values in human striving. It is bringing forth this proof. The new spirit that is being exemplified in social and international relations: infinitely stronger than the old spirit of hate and suspicion, the spirit of narrow egoism and contempt for the right impulses of others. The new spirit is bound to conquer. Incontestably its victories in recent months have been notable.—Chicago Daily News.

Immunity From Fire

Strange Tale Of Magic Comes Out Of India

Two hundred people—Europeans as well as natives—walked unscathed through a fire-trench before the eyes of a number of scientists at an astonishing exhibition at Poona, India, the other day.

The gathering was arranged to test the claims of a Hindu, known as the Cobra Saint, on account of his power over snakes and his immunity from their bites. Stories of his prowess had spread through the countryside, and when he arrived at Poona, professors of physics, chemistry, biology and medicine decided to find out the truth of these tales for themselves.

They supervised the digging of the trench, 7 feet by 2 feet, and 12 inches deep. The fire was lit, and when the wood was burnt down to glowing charcoal the ceremony began.

The holy man then chanted some mantras, or Vedic hymns, went round the fire five times, saluted Agni, the God of Fire, and entered the pit. To the amazement of all the spectators, who numbered many thousands, he seemed to feel no discomfort. He walked with as much unconcern as if he had been treading on cool turf.

He immediately called upon any of the crowd to follow his example. All hung back, however, until 20 of the saint's disciples—after their feet had been carefully examined—stepped on to the embers, and likewise emerged unharmed.

There followed an amazing scene. No fewer than 200 of the onlookers—many of them English people—summoned up enough courage to plunge barefoot into the fire-trench. Not one of them was hurt.

When the saint was asked to explain the phenomenon he said the immunity was due to the chanting of the mantras, and that it was only useful for walking over the fire once.

"I practice the chanting while seated in water, immersed up to the neck," he went on. "It is necessary to repeat it 100,000 times, and it took over six months to do it."

He even claims that by repetition of the charm 10,000,000 times one would secure permanent immunity from fire.

Demand For Free Homesteads

There is an increasing demand for free homestead lands in Western Canada. In the first ten months of this year, 14,586 entries for quarter-sections of 160 acres of homestead lands were made in the four Western Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia—an increase of 3,065 over the corresponding period of last year. This year's entries represent a total of 2,293,760 acres.

Little Helps For This Week

"Joy and gladness shall be found therein, thanksgiving, and the voice of melody."—Isaiah li. 3.

So brief the time to smile,
Why darken we the air
With frowns and tears, the while
We nurse despair?

Stand in the sunshine, sweet,
And treasure every ray;
Nor seek with stubborn feet
The darkness way.

—Celia Thaxter.
I used to think it was great to disregard happiness, to press on to a high goal, careless, disdainful of it. But now I see that there is nothing so great as to be capable of happiness, to pluck it out of "each moment and whatever happens"; to find that one can ride as gay and buoyant on the angry, menacing, tumultuous waves of life as on those that glide and glitter under a clear sky; that it is not defeat and wretchedness which come out of the storms of adversity, but strength and calmness.—Ann Gilchrist.

Persian Balm—Invaluable to the whole family. To the mother, a flawless aid to loveliness. To the child, a soothing, healing balm. And to the father, a splendid hair fixative and cooling shaving lotion. Persian Balm tones and refreshes the skin. Makes hands delightfully soft and white. Indispensable to dainty women. A little gentle rubbing and it is absorbed by the tissues, making the skin truly rose-leaf in texture.

Guide Was Skilled

While in Switzerland, a traveller was about to make an ascent, when he thought it might be well to inquire about the ability of his guide.

"Is he a thoroughly skilled climber?" he asked the hotel manager.

"I'll say he is," was the reply. "Why, he's lost two parties of tourists down the mountainside and come back without as much as a scratch himself."

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—

Remember Aspirin! For there is scarcely any sort of pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

You need not hesitate to take Aspirin. It is safe. It is always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

UNITED CHURCH ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Gleichen United Church Sunday School Board of management was held in the Church, Rev. C. B. Corcoran opened the meeting with prayer. In absence of J. C. Buckley, M.L.A., superintendent Mr. W. Sutermeister took the chair. The financial statement for the year ending December 31st, was received from Mr. D. Hutcheson, secretary-treasurer of the school. The attendance for the year 1929 as well as the collections received were not quite as large as in the preceding year. However the report was a most satisfactory one.

Prizes and seals will be given again for perfect attendance during the period of 1929-1930, beginning and ending with Rally Day.

The following officers were elected by ballot: Superintendent J. C. Buckley, M.L.A., Assistant Superintendent W. Sutermeister, Secretary-Treasurer D. Hutcheson, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer H. Hamer, Chairman of the Board Superintendent Mrs. R. W. Brown, Missionary Superintendent Mrs. Eason, Temperance Superintendent Mrs. Corcoran, Pianist Helen Robinson.

The Missionary Sunday is to be the first Sunday in each quarter, and for the current quarter the first Sunday in February. The regular meeting will be held on the first Monday in each month. Temperance Sunday will be observed on the first Sunday in March, May, August, and November.

The secretary was instructed to write letters of appreciation to Mr. Buckley, Miss Helen Corcoran, and Miss Crawford. He was also asked to request Mrs. Corcoran, pianist, to remember for their splendid effort on foot in connection with the Christmas entertainment. The meeting then closed with prayer offered by Rev. C. B. Corcoran.

The Bassano Mail says the Bear cubs lost to the Gunners in a fast and rough game. It looked to us more like a practice for the Gunners and we suppose if the Gunners had got rough it would then have been Sunday.

Saturday night the Distributors of Calgary play the Gunners on Gleichen ice. This game will be the best and fastest game played here so far this winter. The Distributors have a good team. They consist of players from the Brooks, Maroons, and Canadians. This game will show just how good the Gunners are this year and will be a real test for them. So be on deck Saturday night.

During the recent Ford Motor school held under the auspices of the Calgary Branch of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Gleichen was represented by Mr. Nylt Tweedie employed by MacCallum & Smith Motors. Mr. Tweedie is a former student of the Calgary Technical school and as a former president of the Calgary Technical School Student's Association. These recent examinations were arranged by the Ford Motor Company of Canada were written by Mr. Tweedie.

The judging was done under the supervision of the Ford Motors Company and when the examinations were returned to A. P. MacCallum, manager of MacCallum & Smith Motors, on behalf of Mr. Tweedie, a letter accompanying the same gave a splendid report that Mr. Nylt Tweedie had obtained 92% of the available marks in all the examinations. No doubt with this additional knowledge acquired Mr. Tweedie's ability as a mechanic should be greatly increased.
